

Personal AI Constitution

A one-page declaration of how you work with AI and where you draw the line. Fill it in by hand. Keep it near the desk. Argue with it later.

WORKSHOP AI & AUTHENTICITY DATE _____ VENUE _____
FACILITATORS DRÉ LABRE & RONIT NOVAK

PREAMBLE

Why I'm here

Set your intent before you write a single rule. Finish each line in your own words.

› I use AI to

› I refuse to use it to

› My voice is worth protecting because

I

ARTICLE I

Voice Signature

The fingerprint only you have. Name the markers that make work sound like you, then the moves you would never make.

› My work sounds like (diction, rhythm, punctuation habits, structural tics)

› Words, phrases, and moves I would never make

II

ARTICLE II

Powers Granted

The jobs you are comfortable handing over. Be specific. Vague permissions get abused.

III

ARTICLE III

Powers Reserved

The parts of the work that stay in your hands, no matter how good the tool gets.

IV

ARTICLE IV

Red Lines

Never, under any condition, with your name attached.

V

ARTICLE V

Disclosure

Your position on naming AI's involvement in your work. There is no required answer. Take one and own it.

VI

ARTICLE VI

The Check

How you decide a piece is ready to ship, and who answers for it when it is wrong.

› The test a piece must pass before it goes out under my name

› When it is wrong, the person who answers for it is

VII

ARTICLE VII

Amendments

This is a living document. Decide when you revisit it and what would make you change a clause.

REVIEW CADENCE	VERSION
AN ARTICLE CHANGES WHEN

RATIFICATION

Signed into practice

This is mine. I built it, I'll revise it, and the work that ships under my name answers to it.

SIGNATURE

DATE

RATIFIED · SELF
AUTHORITY
OF ONE